The UK's leading providers of mental health training & consultancy. An authority you can trust.

In essence, this is an assessment and communication skills training event. It blends the principles of positive behavioural support (PBS) and PACE training into a unique system that empowers better relations and support strategies.

This empathy-guidance model will help you balance strategic listening with constructive guidance, advice and supports that young people are more likely to consider and adopt.

It provides an understanding of the psychological and environmental factors commonly associated with provoking behaviours. And how to effectively regulate and support young people within validation based 'dialectic' model.

Importantly, it's a trauma-informed workshop that provides an overview of mental health conditions that commonly emerge in childhood and adolescence.

This training is a one-day event and can be delivered onsite / face-to-face or by webinar. Extended training is available.

Key aspects of the training

- The training helps organisations, staff and parents make sense of their children's psychological, emotional and social needs
- To better understanding the mental health and attachment impact of developmental adversity, invalidating experiences, psychological neglect and potential abuse
- Assessments, proactive / reactive strategies and appropriate adjustments to better-support young people with emotional sensitivity and challenging behaviours
- Skilful responses to dysregulated behaviours that improve interpersonal relationships, reduce opposition and improve the uptake of advice and guidance

Evidence-based models that influence the training

- PACE training (Playfulness, Acceptance, Curiosity, Empathy)
- Positive Behavioural Support models (PBS)
- Adolescent Dialectical Behavioural Therapy and amended CBT

The training is a mix of evidence-based knowledge and conversational practice, carefully designed to equip your organisation and team with the right skills and approaches.

This training is supported by MHT10 - Childhood & Adolescent Mental Health Training. Running these two workshops together will significantly improve organisational knowledge, supports, safeguarding and signposting
